IPL group and Omni Instruments' social responsibility policy conveys our understanding and effective management of our activities in accordance with our principles and practices for sustainable development. To this end we have implemented a social responsibility management system in line with ISO 26000.

We aim for the continued good governance of our organisation to reflect our belief in preserving and promoting healthy ecosystems and social equality. In summary, our policy and procedure is to:

- Recognise our social responsibility within our sphere of influence.
- Implement and promote socially responsible behaviour throughout the organisation and through our decisions and actions.
- Integrate social responsibility in our quality, environmental and health and safety policies and procedures.
- Respect diversity within the company and be aware of societal, environmental, legal, cultural, economic and political differences in all our markets and areas of operation.
- Deliver products and solutions that contribute to sustainable development.

The social responsibility policy is reviewed annually by management to determine the policy's continuing suitability.
